

1. Ship tracking sites (AIS Tracking)

MarineTraffic – Primary source

<https://www.marinetraffic.com>

Data obtained: Name CLEAROCEAN MERIBEL, IMO 9917646, MMSI 548624000, speed 0.5 kn, status "Stopped," Tripoli departure date (10 Sep), and past track.

VesselFinder – Secondary source confirming the STS (Ship-to-Ship) transfer

<https://www.vesselfinder.com>

Data obtained: GEA, IMO 9292591, MMSI 215924000, Malta flag, speed 0.8 kn, destination "FOR ORDERS," last port Az Zawiyah (Libya) on 3 Sep, draught 7.6 m.

2. Satellite imagery (GEOINT / SAR)

EO Browser – Sentinel Hub

<https://apps.sentinel-hub.com/eo-browser/>

Free European Copernicus platform

Used to examine Sentinel-1 SAR imagery (capable of detecting ships at night) for the date of the stop (15 Sep 2026, southeast of Malta).

Copernicus Sentinel-1

A SAR satellite that visualizes the sea even through cloud cover; ships appear as white dots.